MOUNTAIN BIKING IN THE NT

In 2016, the Northern Territory (NT) Government released a Master Plan for Mountain Biking (MTB) in the NT.¹

The Plan outlines five strategies to develop world-class mountain biking experiences in the NT.²

THE FOCUS ON ALICE SPRINGS

MTB in Alice Springs is already well established and the town is the natural hub of MTB activity. Trails range from easy to intermediate and cover short rides under five kilometres to longer rides over 10 kilometres.²

Visitors and locals can rely on knowledgeable local bike retailers, a great café culture, an excellent mountain biking scene, weekly club rides and endless opportunities to explore.

OVER THE PAST 12 MONTHS WE HAVE:

- Developed five trails on Casuarina Coastal Reserve at Lee Point - soon to be opened
- Repaired erosion issues and improved the riding experience on the Ilentye and Apwelantye Trails on the Alice Springs Telegraph Station Reserve
- Engaged an expert MTB consultant to produce an Alice Springs MTB Destination Development Plan
- Began installation of a bike "maintenance station" including pump at the Alice Springs Telegraph Station

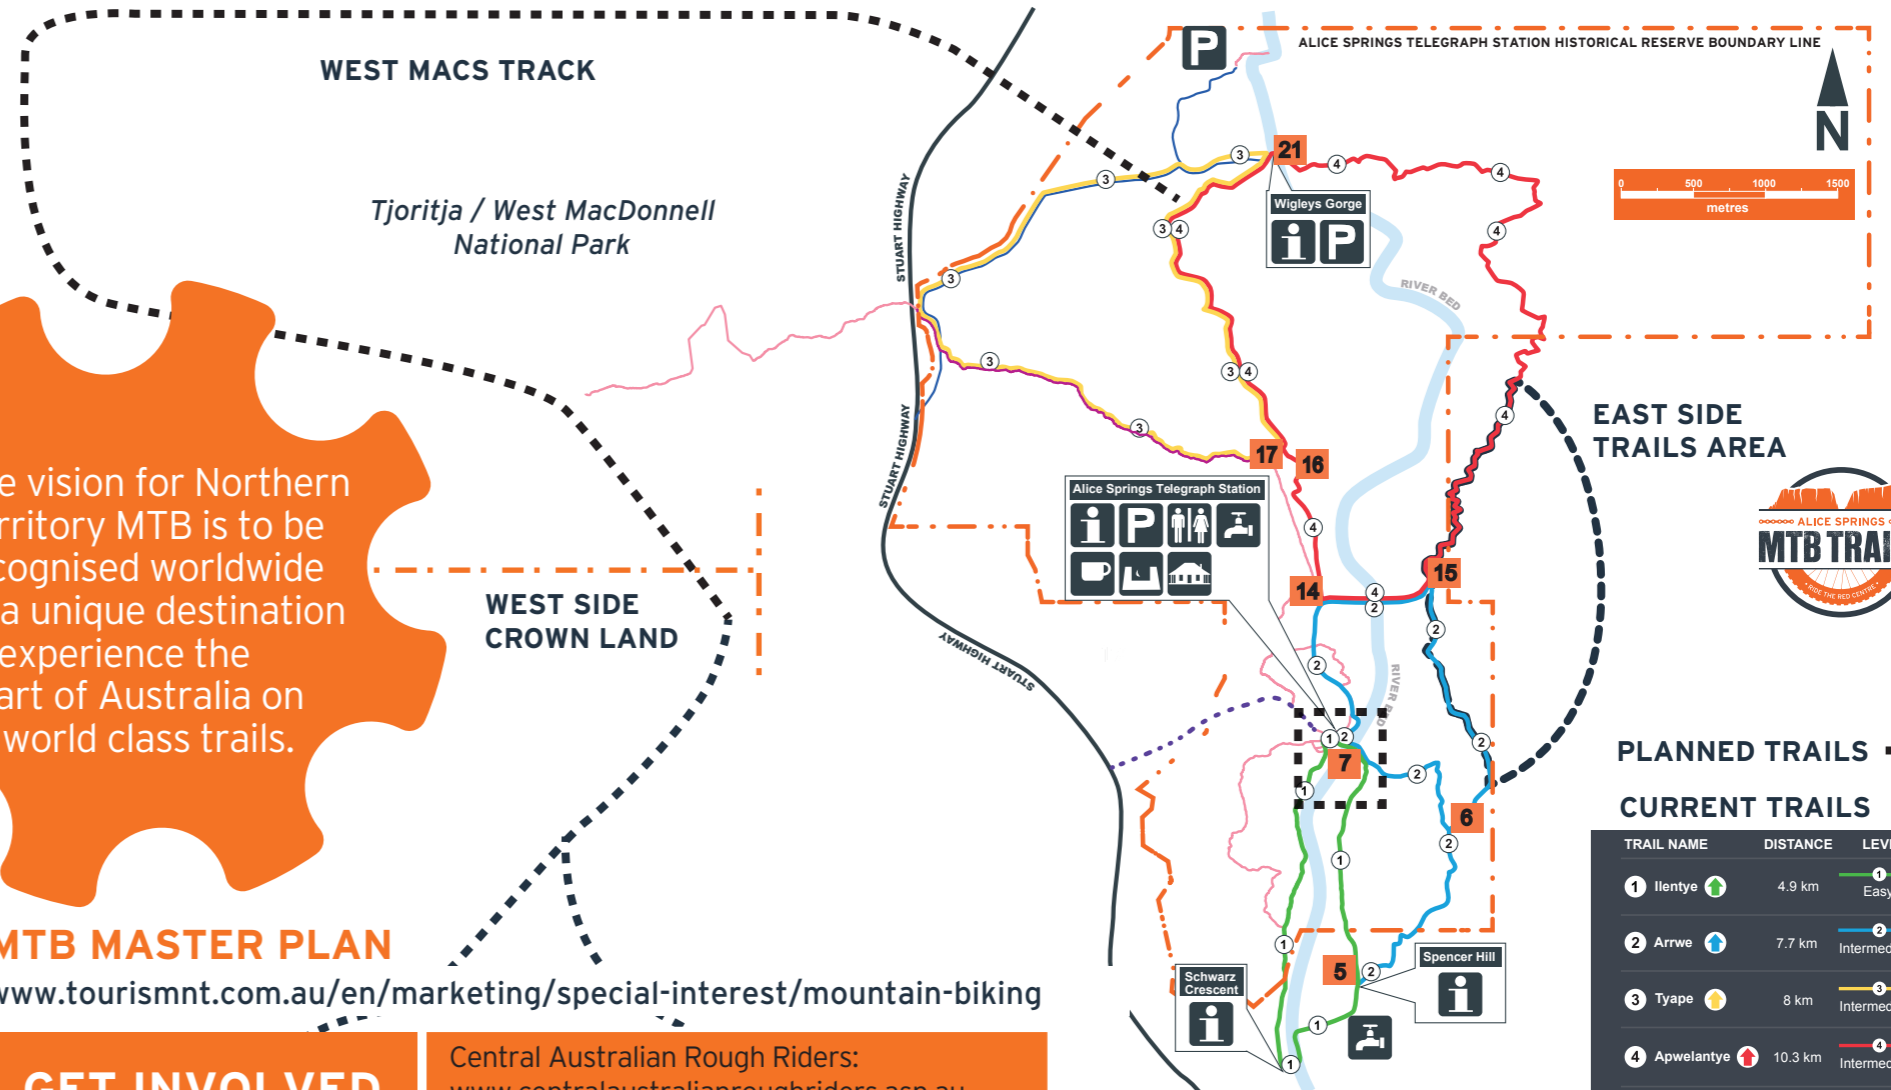

PLANS FOR 2017-18:

- Spending $1.3 million on trail development projects in:
 - Alice Springs
 - West MacDonnell Ranges National Park, exploring feasibility of a new multi-day experience.
 - Litchfield National Park
 - Nitmiluk National Park
 - Darwin trail upgrades
- Spending over $60 000 on event marketing
- Three new trails within the Charles Darwin National Park

FLOW MOUNTAIN BIKE

- 'Ride the Red Centre'
- Filming in April 2017. Content live in May - July 2017
